Prepare For Fight Over Anti-Strike Legislation

Washington, Dec. 1.—Both branches of Congress prepared today for what leaders predict will be "cat and dog fights" over anti-strike legislation, but all factions agreed that a bill will be approved this week affecting virtually every employer and employee in the country.

While the Senate skirmish today remained in the committee stage, the House convened for consideration of several measures, representing the views of both those who wish to virtually outlaw strikes during the emergency, and those preferring a milder recourse.

GOLF "PRO" DIRECTED TO PAY SUPPORT ORDER

Gene Kunes' Wife Asks For Support of Herself and Son of Nine Years

TO RECEIVE $20 WEEKLY

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 1.—Mrs. Margaret Kunes, estranged wife of Gene Kunes, top-flight golfer and golf professional, collapsed in Court Room No. 1, here, last week, after appearing in a non-support case directed against Kunes.

Kunes was directed to pay $20 a week toward support of his wife and nine-year-old son Eugene. Mrs. Kunes and the boy live at Croydun.

Mrs. Kunes, who testified they had been married ten years, told how her husband refused to pay for the electric bills and she was forced to light the apartment with candles.

She estimated that her husband's salary ranged from $9,000 to $10,000 a year.

Taking the stand in his own behalf, Kunes, who was without counsel, denied that he earned any such ridiculous amount as $10,000 a year. "I am lucky if I can make between $900 and $1,000 a year," he said.

He admitted having struck his wife several times because she used bad language and also admitted that he spends between $40 and $50 a week "betting on dogs" playing the races.

"We were happy the first three or four years of our married life, but my wife is the 'perfect trouble-maker' no matter who it is toward or what one does for her," said Kunes.

The golf professional for the Holmesburg Country Club, who lives at 9509 Frankford avenue, Philadelphia, said he runs a golfing school in Hollywood, Florida, during the winter season.

He was directed by Judge Boyer to enter bond in the sum of $500.

Infantile Paralysis Chapter In County Now Functioning

Dr. Ben Tertius Bell, of Abington Hospital, who has been named chairman of the Bucks County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, reports that activities of the recently organized chapter are now under way.

The purpose of the Bucks County Chapter is to render aid to needy infantile paralysis victims in the county, regardless of age. The chapter does this by purchasing orthopedic equipment and helping to pay hospital and nursing costs.

During epidemics, chapters supply splints and frames which frequently prevent or minimize the crippling after-effects associated with infantile paralysis. They also render assistance to the medical profession and to the public health officers in charge.

Fifty per cent of the money derived from the annual Presidents' Birthday Ball and the March of Dimes remains in Bucks county, for disbursement.

Mrs. Carl Watson, Morrisville, is vice-chairman; J. P. Weiss, treasurer; and Mrs. Jesse Packer, Newtown, secretary.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Tough Job For A Poet

Washington, Nov. 29. A WEEK or so ago the labor division of the OPM issued a press release asserting that from June 1, 1940, to October 1, 1941 (sixteen months), there were 2,349,000 man days lost to defense work by strikes.

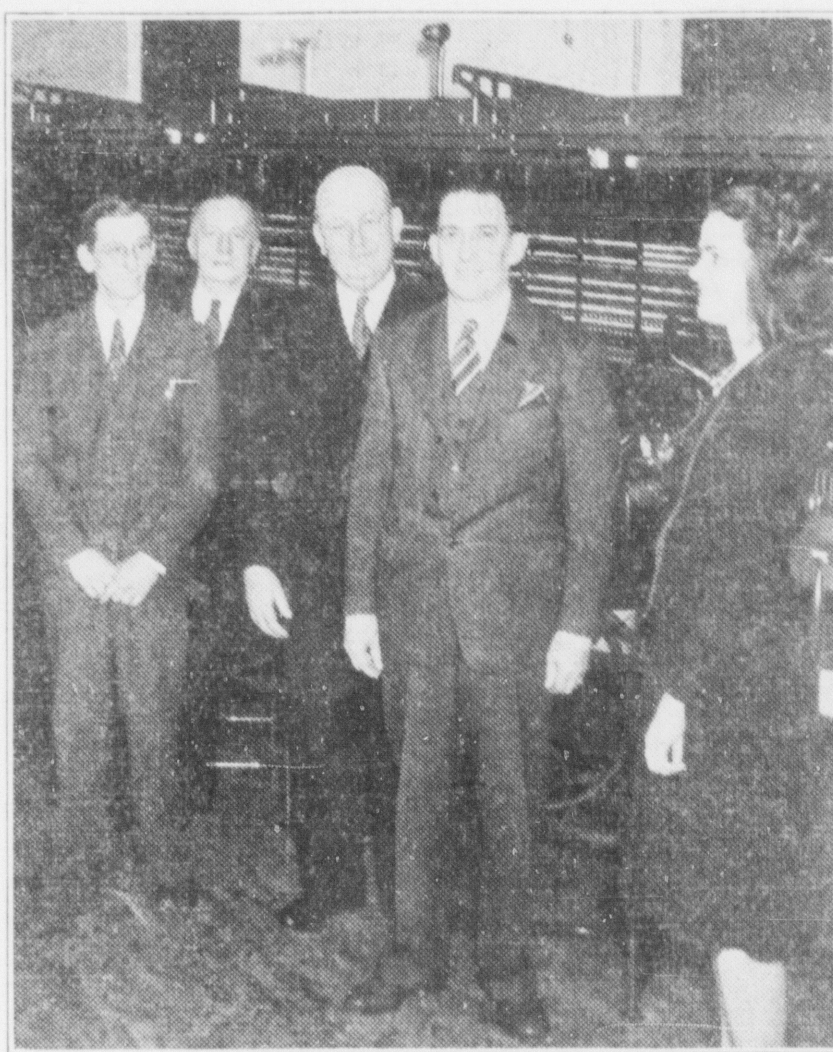

But figures of the War and Navy Departments show that from January 1 to October 1, 1941 (nine months), there were 6,100,000 man days lost. In the last two months this figure has risen above 7,000,000.

CONCEDING, as many have pointed out, that in this emergency delays are not only costly but may be fatal, even the lowest of these claims is shocking. However, the shock could be stood if one just could get at the truth. The distressing thing is the vast discrepancy (nearly 4,000,000) between these Government figures.

As well as anything else this sort of thing—and it is a very common sort of thing—justifies the recent creation by the President of the Office of Facts and Figures. In the Executive order it was stated that the duty of this new agency is to facilitate the dissemination of accurate facts and figures. While that is what all these information agencies are supposed to do, it is what very few of them actually do—except accidentally.

IF the OFF, which is not to issue information itself, but to work with the existing agencies, can put an end to the loose, misleading and inaccurate "information" which is now being governmentally disseminated, it will serve well both the country and the cause. If it can stop the flow of falsehoods and substitute the simple truth, it will be a very notable achievement. Moreover, it will be an innovation so far as the Roosevelt Administration is concerned. Because probably this Administration grades as low in the matter of truth telling as any we ever have

PROVIDES IN WILL FOR MARKING ON TOMBSTONE

William H. Murphy Leaves Estate To Miss Marie A. Farley

WAS WAR VETERAN

Provision for the manner in which his tomb stone is to be marked was made in the will of former County Treasurer, William H. Murphy, of Bristol. Mr. Murphy was killed in an automobile accident on Armistice Day night.

In the will of Mr. Murphy which has been filed for probate the deceased left his estate to Marie A. Farley, of Bristol.

The well-known Bucks countian, who left a personal estate of $500 and named John Leslie Kilcoyne, 505 Bath street, Bristol, the executor, executed his will in 1938 but did not designate the specific day.

Annually, Registrar Murphy, who saw to it that the soldiers' graves throughout the county were decorated for Memorial Day, kept faith with his "comrades" by seeing to it that their graves and markers were kept in a good state of preservation.

A veteran himself, Registrar Murphy, in his will stipulated that "William H. Murphy, 1871-1941, veteran of the Spanish-American War and Philippine Campaign" be engraved on his marker, and that a bronze insignia of the infantry be placed at the top of the stone.

MISS ANNA BEVINI IS WED HERE ON SATURDAY

Jefferson Ave. Miss Becomes Wife of Mr. Frank A. Esposito

A PRETTY CEREMONY

A Jefferson avenue resident, Miss Anna M. Bevin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orazio Nepa, was wed yesterday afternoon at three o'clock to Mr. Frank A. Esposito, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Esposito, 234 Penn street.

Mr. Nepa gave Miss Bevin in marriage, with the Rev. Fr. Peter Pinci as the acting priest in the chapel of St. Ann's Church. For the singing of "The Rosary" by Miss Mary Mancini, Pond street, Miss Frances Tamburella was the accompanist.

Miss Lola Bevin, a sister of the bride, was the maid of honor; Miss Mary Delia, Garden street, and Miss Jean Esposito, a sister of the groom, were bridesmaids; Mr. Edward Napoli, Penn and Wood streets, served as best man; and another member of the bride party was an usher, Mr. Joseph Cicciola. The two church ushers were Messrs. Peter Nepa, Jefferson avenue, and Alexander Conti, Franklin street.

Broad egg-shell satin formed a handsome bridal gown for the former Miss Bevin. Cut with a square neckline it had a low waistline. The long sleeves, puffed at the shoulders, ended in points over the hands. A large hoop held the full skirt in place, the folds then sweeping to a graceful train. Slippers were of egg-shell tone, and her veil of illusion was attached to a tiara of illusion, arranged in three shirred points. Her bouquet was composed of white roses and an orchid. The bride's only article of jewelry worn for the occasion was a three-strand necklace of pearls.

Miss Loth Bevin was attired in poude blue; Miss Delia in yellow; and Miss Esposito in aqua. The gowns of taffeta, were patterned alike. They had square necklines, shirred bodies with long waistlines, long sleeves puffed at the shoulders and ending in wide cuffs. The skirts were hoop style. On their hair each wore a trio of small plumes matching their gowns, with veils of illusion in the same tones draped under the chin. Their satin slippers were in the same shades as the respective gowns; and each maid carried a colonial bouquet of mixed flowers. The trio wore triple strands of pearls, their gifts from the bride.

The bride entertained at dinner at her home, 899 Jefferson avenue, prior to the groom's home the best man and to the ceremony her attendants; and Mutual Aid Hall last evening a reception was his dinner guests. At that time took place, for a week's honeymoon trip the former Miss Bevin wore a black velvet dress, dabonnet, felt hat and matching accessories; striped coat featuring dabonnet, blue and gray shades, it having a fur collar. Mr. Esposito and bride will live at 932 Jefferson avenue.

First of Air Raid Drill Series Proves Successful

SOUTH LANGHORNE, Dec. 1.—Emergency police of the zone embracing the boroughs of Hulmeville, Langhorne, Langhorne Manor and South Langhorne, participated in the first of a series of air raid drills yesterday noon.

Carried out like clock-work, the drill was declared a success, each of the 35 to 40 stations being manned with the exception of four or five, and the police assigned to these few had notified the zone chief they would be unable to man their posts, yesterday, being detained by other duties.

The drill was planned to familiarize the emergency police unit members with their assignments, and other drills are planned later.

At 12:30 p. m., the whistles of J. E. Fricke Co., Hulmeville; Enterprise Wall Paper Co., South Langhorne; and the Langhorne Fire Co. sounded.

A quick check-up was then made by Zone Chief Joseph A. Keating and his assistants, with all posts being found well manned with the exception of the few who had notified their chief to that effect. Twenty minutes later the "all-clear" signal was heard.

The men took their assigned stations at main intersections and also served as guards for public utilities.

SANTA CLAUS IS TO ARRIVE HERE TONIGHT

Will Be Laden With Gifts of Candy for Tots of Bristol and Vicinity

CADETS TO ESCORT HIM

Laden with candy and promises of future gifts to come, Santa Claus will arrive in Bristol this evening.

The candy is being brought from the North Pole especially for the "kiddies"—the grown-ups won't rate in distribution of that bagful tonight.

"Bring all the kiddies to Mill street. I'll be there, I'll have candy for all my little friends." This was part of the message received from the jolly old fellow this week, and it is a safe prediction that girls and boys by the hundreds from a wide area will be present to witness his arrival.

Music will be played, and shouts of welcome will go up from tiny throats as the gay vehicle prepared to bear Santa Claus through the streets makes its way along the thoroughfares.

Eight o'clock is the hour set for his arrival.

Just whether Santa will fly down from the North Pole, or come in some other manner is not definitely known as yet, but it is presumed he will fly to Bristol, and be met by a delegation from the Mill Street Business Men's Association, the sponsoring unit. Mounting the vehicle now gaily trimmed especially for his ride through Bristol's streets, he will make his way to Mill street.

The American Legion Cadets of Robert W. Bracken Post will be Santa's escorting musical organization.

Two Operators Prevent Panic in Chester Theatre

CHESTER, Dec. 1.—(INS)—Two motion picture operators were credited today with averting a panic when a $10,000 blaze swept a paint shop on the balcony of the Washington Theatre in Chester while 1200 patrons were in attendance.

The operators kept the feature picture running for 20 minutes while police herded the spectators out of the building. Firemen who answered a general alarm blamed a short circuit in the emergency lighting system.

DEFENSE UNITS IN BUCKS CO. RATED AS AMONG THE BEST

Col. Clifton F. Lisle Makes An Inspection of Group at Doylestown

ARE WELL ORGANIZED

Army Officer Pays High Compliment To Work of Col. Churchill Williams

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 1.—"There is probably no other county organization in the United States as well prepared, and I am sure there are none in the Third Regional Area that can compare to your organization here," was the comment made by Colonel Clifton F. Lisle, the acting director of civilian defense in the Third Corps Area, as he had completed his inspection of the Civilian Defense Organization of Bucks County.

The Home Defense Group consisting of air-raid patrol, emergency police, air-raid wardens, and motor corps units were grouped on the high school field at Doylestown yesterday afternoon. There were approximately 700 men, eight airplanes, 16 pieces of fire apparatus, and 25 station wagons to serve as emergency ambulances, lined up for inspection. Twenty-five hundred people stood about as spectators. The firemen, in uniform, were lined up in front of their apparatus. Each station wagon carried a red flag, with the designation "Bucks County Motor Defense Corps." The airplane pilots headed by Marty Green, of Bristol, stood beside their planes, and three motorcycleists were mounted upon their machines. The emergency police were lined up, three deep, each wearing the emergency police cap and button. American flags designated the separation of the units.

As selections were rendered by the Doylestown band, Colonel Churchill Williams, director of Bucks County emergency police; Thornton Lewis, chairman of Bucks County Council of Defense, and its organizer; area chiefs Felix Gowan, Doylestown; C. Norman Detweiler, and August Wackerman, Quakertown; Anthony Russo, Bristol; Capt. John Knecht, Phila. Police Department; made a careful inspection of each individual and the various equipment.

At the conclusion of the inspection Chief Gowan introduced Colonel Lisle.

"I think it is a great privilege for me to come here the second time, and see the progress which you have made since October, when I was a witness to the first black-out held in Bucks County. Unless the individuals form themselves into groups such as you have, the whole scheme of civilian defense will fail. Such organizations as you have formed is needed to protect the civilian population from air raids, fires and sabotage. It is the first time I have seen a unit so completely organized and officered as you have here. I am going to report this direct to Mayor LaGuardia and request him in turn to report what you have done here to the President of the United States. There are only one or two groups such as yours which are as well organized as you are outside of the metropolitan areas. You have perfected yourselves in the details for the job ahead. Such groups as this must be formed to save lives and to protect property in case of an invasion."

"If the people all over the United States were as willing to co-operate as they are here, we would not have as much to fear if bombing of our cities and towns does start."

WINTER DRIVING

The National Safety Council is calling upon motorists in the northern climes to change the tempo of their motoring when winter comes. This organization recognizes that nearly every driver has an average speed at which he operates his car, especially in rural areas.

Persons at the steering wheel are prone to hold to this average even when weather conditions are adverse. The council is eager to convince them that accidents may be avoided and lives saved if they will cut their speed to the kind of weather that prevails.

For the last three years the council has engaged in research to determine the reaction of a car in good mechanical condition when the brakes are applied. At twenty miles an hour a car can be stopped in twenty-one feet on dry concrete, or in twenty-six feet if the road is wet. On packed snow, without chains, a car can not be stopped at the same speed in less than sixty-nine feet. With chains, the distance is forty feet.

When ice is encountered, a car can not be stopped in less than 169 feet. If it has chains on the rear wheels, the stopping distance is eighty-eight feet, and if the ice has been sanded, a full stop may be made in eighty-six feet. At higher speeds—and few drive at twenty miles an hour—the hazards increase proportionately.

Highway officials attempt to make roadways as safe as possible after heavy snows, or when a sheet storm has covered the travel surface with ice, but they can not assure dry surfaces at all times. There is no mystery about winter driving hazards. They can be foreseen and avoided, if the operators of cars will remember the warnings that the safety experts have issued.

FISH IN THE STREAMS

The eyes of sportsmen in most sections are currently turned to other game than fish, but in Oregon the fishermen are enjoying a bonanza of chin salmon. The waters of coastal streams are producing a piscatorial volume that confounds the oldest of timers.

There are so many chin salmon surging up the waterways that fish are actually tossed ashore in the pan. It is all highly profitable for the commercial fishermen. Some of them have cleared $80 a day each. It is like that since early October.

Long since the run should have tapered out. But it went on and on while the Frank Wilcox moved in and the dollars poured into their pockets.

String crops in the fields, tender fruit on the trees, sweet fruit on the vines and plenty of fish in the rivers—what have Americans done to deserve it?

That answer does not come straight. But it is not difficult to find in the Oregon fish run the answer to another question: What are Americans seeking to protect? Many persons are struck again by the realization that material holdings as well as more amorphous democratic ideals are involved.

The lowly chin salmon teaches a lesson.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

By Courier Staff Member

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol Jan. 29, 1880. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

The ninth annual meeting of the Cottage Building Association was held on Monday evening. The report of the secretary states that the amount loaned as $2,100 by the last report is $105,790.70, and the amount loaned since is $15,284.30, making a total of $123,075. The whole amount of assets is $120,879.95; the balance in the treasury $11,955; and the whole number of shares 789, the value of each of which is $155. The following officers were elected for the forthcoming year: Joshua Peirce, president; Samuel Swain, secretary; Charles T. Iredell, treasurer; Joseph B. Bailey, Charles T. Bruden, James V. Foster, Jonathan Milnor, C. W. Peirce, Robert Rogers and Joseph S. Peirce, directors.

The Livingston mills are now at work night and day.

Charles E. Helling, of Shady Side, has found time from his duties as contributor to the amateur press to write in microscopic style, 1210 words upon the back of a postal card, which he has sent to this office for examination.

The artesian well at the Livingston Mills has reached a depth of 160 feet, and the boring is still continued. It is presumed that the intention is to bore straight through to China, and open telephonic communication with the celestials.

The first general meeting of the Bristol Temperance Union was held in Washington Hall on Friday evening, the 23rd instant. The meeting was called to order by Samuel Swain, president of the society, who after the reading of the constitution by the secretary, made a brief speech, that gloved with noble sentiment and urged the hearers to the performance of active work in behalf of temperance.

This was followed by remarks from Mr. Krichbaum, who, as chairman of the executive committee, was called upon to state what the new society had thus far accomplished.

J. K. Wild, member of the association, Rev. Dr. Wayland was introduced as the speaker of the evening. His address dealt largely in facts and figures relating to the retail liquor business in the city of Philadelphia. After making some introductory remarks, Dr. Wayland proceeded to speak of the great number of licensed and unlicensed dram-shops in the city, and of the aggregate amount of business they did, deducing by a careful arithmetical process the amazing fact that 15 millions of dollars are expended each year in these places, all in small sums. Mr. Krichbaum added a few remarks showing the great excess of money that is spent for liquor over the combined sum that goes to the support of our schools and churches. He urged the need of active effort in the direction of aiming to suppress intemperance, and hoped the citizens of Bristol, as one of the things they would have an opportunity of doing, would freely append their signatures to remonstrances that would be circulated against the granting of licenses for the sale of liquor in our borough.

The next Institute entertainment, B. F. Duane's "Ninety Minutes in Kewer Company," is described as one of the most humorous things now before the public.

The amount of good silently accomplished by the benevolent ladies of the Relief Society would surprise a great many people in Bristol, if the record of the work were published.

had. With a violence that seemed somewhat out of proportion to the case, Mr. Roosevelt recently characterized an article in Time Magazine as a "disgraceful lie." It is natural that the retort should be that in his own Administration there are some of the biggest liars who ever degraded a government.

BUT, that aside, the most encouraging thing about the OFF is that Mr. Archibald MacLeish, the Librarian of Congress, should have accepted its directorship. Mr. MacLeish is as able as he is high-minded. He is not the kind of man to make meaningless motions and he has no taste for flattery. Clothing him with authority, the President has asked that he facilitate the "accuracy" of defense information, and it is quite certain that he will try to do exactly that. His assistants, Mr. Robert Kintner and Mr. Barry Bingham, are well chosen, and they all start out with high hopes and a noble purpose. But, oh what a job they have! What a job they have! It is not going to be enough—even if they could do it—to catch and correct the enormous amount of misleading and inaccurate information that daily streams from multitudinous publicity agencies of the Government. They have got to do much more than that if they are to approximate the accuracy asked by the President.

—O—
To achieve that, they must go to the foundation and somehow convince the army of men now handling publicity that their conception of the job is all wrong. They have been proceeding on the theory—and quite naturally, because of the high governmental examples—that they must magnify everything favorable to the Administration and minimize, ignore or denounce everything unfavorable. That is the basic idea upon which they operate. It is the only idea they have. It does not, of course, make for accuracy; it makes for inaccuracy. It does not inform the people; it misinforms them. Perhaps the President did not really mean accuracy when he used that word, because he himself rather tends to ignore the unfavorable facts and stress only those that please him. But if he did not mean it, then he made a mistake in naming Mr. MacLeish. For Mr. MacLeish is not only instinctively a truthful man but he is much too intelligent to think that untruthfulness ever pays. He will assume that the President did mean it—and while he may have slight success in injecting accuracy into Administration publicity, he certainly will try.

—O—
MOREOVER, while it is not nominated in his commission, it is to be hoped that Mr. MacLeish will find it worth while at least to survey the vast publicity monstrosity which has grown up within the Government in the past eight years. Perhaps if he were supported by the White House he might reduce this grotesque creation to some semblance of sense, shape and order. An idea of its bloated nature can be had from the official figures of the Budget Bureau. These show that on July 1 there were 2,395 persons employed full time in governmental publicity and 31,618 part-time employees. The annual publicity pay roll was $19,463,470; the annual expenses were $8,208,470—a total cost for the year of $27,669,540. On July 1 there were 153 separate publicity agencies. There are more agencies and more employees now—and both the pay roll and the expense account are higher. They mount every month.

—O—
THIS is an intolerable and absurd state of affairs. The publicity army alone is sufficient to account for the almost incredible confusion in which every administrative agency here blindly gropes. It breeds waste, inefficiency, fakery, impotency, overlapping, bewilderment—and, above all, inaccuracy. Unless somehow, somehow, he does something to straighten out this situation, Mr. MacLeish's efforts to give the country accurate information are apt to be swallowed up in the enormous flood of inaccurate information which gushes out of the 153 spigots every day.

Harriman Methodist Church
Is Setting For A Wedding

At a week-end nuptial ceremony, solemnized in the Harriman Methodist Church, Mrs. Helen H. Campbell, 2015 Wilson avenue, became the wife of Mr. Harry Campbell, Bridgewater. The Rev. Edward K. Kneiter, pastor of the church, was the officiating clergyman, and the marriage occurred at two o'clock on Saturday afternoon before a company of relatives and friends of the contracting parties.

The bridal march was played by organist, Mrs. Alfred Rogers, who was likewise the accompanist for Mr. Ralph Stromp, Croydon, a brother of the bride. Mr. Stromp sang two selections, "I Love You Truly" and "O Promise Me."

The bride and groom had one attendant each, Miss Bertha Borchers, a step-sister of the bride, serving as bridesmaid; and Mr. Francis Campbell, Bridgewater, a brother of the groom, acting in the capacity of best man. The ushers included Messrs. John and William VanSoest, of Hayes street.

A street-length dress of gold-toned rayon crepe, was chosen for the occasion by the bride, this having a floral pattern of braid trimming the bodice. Her hat of felt was also in gold tone, it having a brown veil. She wore green gloves and slippers; and carried an arm bouquet of mixed chrysanthemums.

Miss Borchers selected for the wedding, a dress of green rayon crepe, with brown felt hat, and accessories of brown. Her bouquet was made up of a variety of chrysanthemums.

A small reception followed at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. William Borchers, after which the newlyweds left for a week-end trip to New York City. They will reside at 2015 Wilson avenue.

Mrs. Borchers, mother of the bride, wore for the affair, a dress of brown with matching felt hat, and a corsage of button mums. Mrs. William Romig, Bridgewater, mother of the groom, was attired in a dress of beige rayon crepe, black felt hat, and she wore a corsage of button mums.

For upon its screen, unequaled for the first time last night, "Her Enlisted Man," starring Barbara Stanwyck, with Robert Young lending chief support, the latest offering of Peerless Films pictures to whom we owe such varied and memorable cinema treats as "Palooka" and "The Count of Monte Cristo."

"Her Enlisted Man" gives Barbara her first opportunity to doff the familiar garments of tragedy as a pretty, modern co-ed, blessed with a quick tongue, a venturesome spirit and a rollicking sense of fun.

BRISTOL THEATRE

Breathtaking action, a superb cast and a stirring written story combine to provide sensational entertainment at the Bristol Theatre, where "Texas" opened yesterday. The film was directed by George Marshall and co-stars William Holden, Claire Trevor and Glenn Ford, with a splendid supporting cast which includes George Bancroft, Edgar Buchanan, Don Beddoe and Willard Robertson.

A story of the old West, "Texas" packs swift action.

RITZ THEATRE

Ida Lupino and John Garfield are co-starring in a new picture, "Out of the Fog" at the Ritz. In this Garfield plays a hardboiled, unregenerate gangster but he wears good clothes and has pleasant manners.
